At first glance, Seiko and The Coca-Cola Company could not seem more different. But if you take a closer look, you'll find two timeless classics that are rooted in a rich history, strong virtues and positive outlooks.

A shared history.

At exactly the same time as Kintaro Hattori was planning to open his Seikosha factory and to create his first ever wall clock, Doc Pemberton in Atlanta, Georgia created a drink that would soon sweep the world.

A shared commitment to doing things right, worldwide. Both Seiko and Coca-Cola see the world as one and work hard to serve the communities that sustain us and to protect the environment on which our futures depend.

A shared love of sport.

Ever since it became the first ever sponsor of the Olympic Games, Coca-Cola has been associated with the Olympic Games continuously since 1928, longer than any other corporate supporter. Seiko, too, is committed to the growth of sport and the positive values that it represents.

When we discovered these synergies and similarities, it felt very right that they should be celebrated in a collection of clocks that express them.

Glossary

ANNIVERSARY CLOCK

A traditional type of mantel clock with a rotating pendulum encased in a glass dome. The name comes from mechanical movements, which needed winding once a year.

ASCENDING ALARM

An electronic alarm which starts off softly and gradually becomes louder in stages.

CARRIAGE CLOCK

A traditional type of mantel, desk or table clock characterized by having a handle on top. Originally a functional feature, the handle is now most often ornamental.

DUAL CHIME

An electronic clock movement that can be set to select one of two chimes. These are most commonly Westminster/Whittington.

DUAL TIME FEATURE

Two different time zones are displayed on the clock dial. These dials can be a combination of two separate analog subdials or an analog digital subdial.

GET UP & GLOW

Through the process of electro-luminescence, the dial or hands are illuminated at the touch of a button.

HIGH DEFINITION EL DIAL

An electro-luminescent dial with high resolution numerals.

LIGHT SENSOR

A device that automatically disengages all alarms and melodies when there is no available light. Light sensors are available in some mantel clocks and wall clocks with chimes or musical movements.

LUMINOUS HANDS AND MARKERS

Markers on dials or hands glow in the dark for a period of time.

NIGHTTIME CHIME SILENCER

A mechanism featured in a chime clock that automatically shuts off the chime at 11:00 PM and resumes functioning at 6:00 AM

QUIET SWEEP SECOND HAND

The second hand moves in one continuous motion and has the advantage of being extremely quiet while operating.

R - WAVE

A clock having a special movement capable of receiving a time signal transmitted by the National Institute of Standards. This radio signal enables the clock to keep time accurately up to one second in one million years and will automatically adjust the time according to either standard or daylight savings time.

REGULATOR

The pendulum of a clock, which originally served the function of "regulating" a mechanical time keeping mechanism, is now a popular ornamental feature.

SCHOOLHOUSE CLOCK

A traditional style wall clock featuring a long rectangular wooden case with a pendulum.

SNOOZE ALARM

This alarm, once stopped, allows for three to five minutes additional sleep before the alarm resumes sounding.

STEP SECOND HAND

Unique to quartz clocks, this "start-stop-start" motion precisely measures time in one second intervals.

SWAROVSKI® CRYSTAL

Indicates genuine Swarovski Crystal components.

TAMBOUR

This is a traditional style whose name is based upon its resemblance to a small drum-like tambourine.
