Introducing Earthmade: A line of products that combine natural materials with state-of-the-art innovations. From stainless steel mixing bowls that can be placed in the microwave (Yep, you read that right) to food containers with wood covers (not plastic), Earthmade goes the natural route to improve best-selling products that offer consumers the features they want and the safety their family and the planet need.

UNBELIEVABLES
WOW!

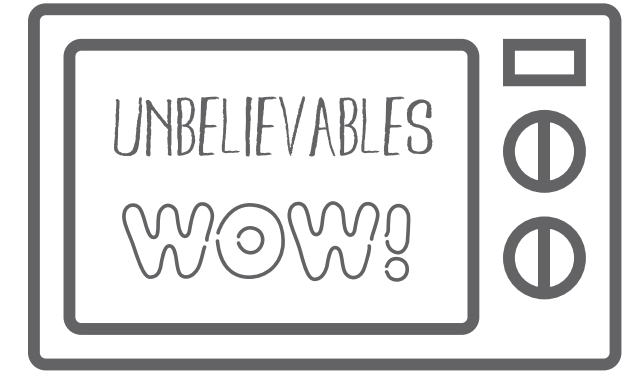

Stainless steel has always been known as a non-microwaveable material due to its reflective properties. Earthmade is proud to offer the first microwavable steel mixing bowl line. Made with their proprietary coating, the stylish Unbelievables! line gives consumers everything they want - lightweight, durable bowls and the ability to put them in the fridge, microwave and on the dinner table.

The double steel wall is extremely good for insulation and the lightweight design is great for taking food on-the-go. These food jars offer an innovative ceramic lining, made from the purest natural clay, so the food inside will taste as it should (with no metal flavor).

Metal taste leaking into the food is the #1 reason consumers dislike metal food jars. The ceramic lining in Earthmade food jars is a natural innovation that keeps that icky metal taste away.
