Proud To Be An American Company

We've been a family owned American manufacturing company since 1959, and have been continuously manufacturing steel products in our East Tennessee factory since then. Back in fifty-nine, we were known as Metals Engineering Company and our first consumer products were sold all across America and Europe. By last count, we've sold more than 20 million quality BBQ grills and 150 million folding chairs. Like many American companies who have managed to prosper through the years, we're now a global supplier with global manufacturing operations. But we always put America and Americans first, doing everything we can to grow and nurture our USA-based operations and helping to keep America strong and Americans working. Thank you so much for your support.

Sincerely,
The Entire Family of Meco Employees
