our goal is to bring CEDAR into the home as the viable and easy way to take care of your clothing. Cedar is an exquisite natural wood that appeals to the eyes with its classic warm grains and reddish hues. It draws you in with its pleasing, healthy and clean fragrance and stands out as an effortless eco-friendly way to beautify your home.

Natural Aromatic Red Cedar has been trusted for centuries to freshen, protect and preserve. It is the environmentally friendly and safe alternative to chemicals in keeping your clothes smelling fresh, repelling insects, and eliminating odors and mildew.

*Aromatic eastern red cedar is found predominately in and about the southern Appalachian Mountains. It is a common species in Eastern U.S. and is termed an invasive species primary of abandoned agricultural fields. Cedar comes from a renewable, biodegradable resource. The harvesting of eastern red cedar (Juniperus Virginiana) can be used to improve the growth of native hardwoods. Harvesting of red cedar is neither ecologically or environmentally problematic and is a sustainable resource. Today's sustainable forestry practices ensure a perpetual abundance of high-quality cedar. It grows from the earth, is harvested, manufactured, and used for decades or centuries. Then, when its useful life span is over, it returns to the earth. This natural life cycle explains why Cedar is the environmentally sound choice, especially compared to alternative materials.*
