madesmart®

WHAT WE STAND FOR

Madesmart® strives to elevate the home organization experience through thoughtful, award-winning design innovation. With our commitment to meaningful partnerships, we are driven to create premium quality products that invoke beauty through function.

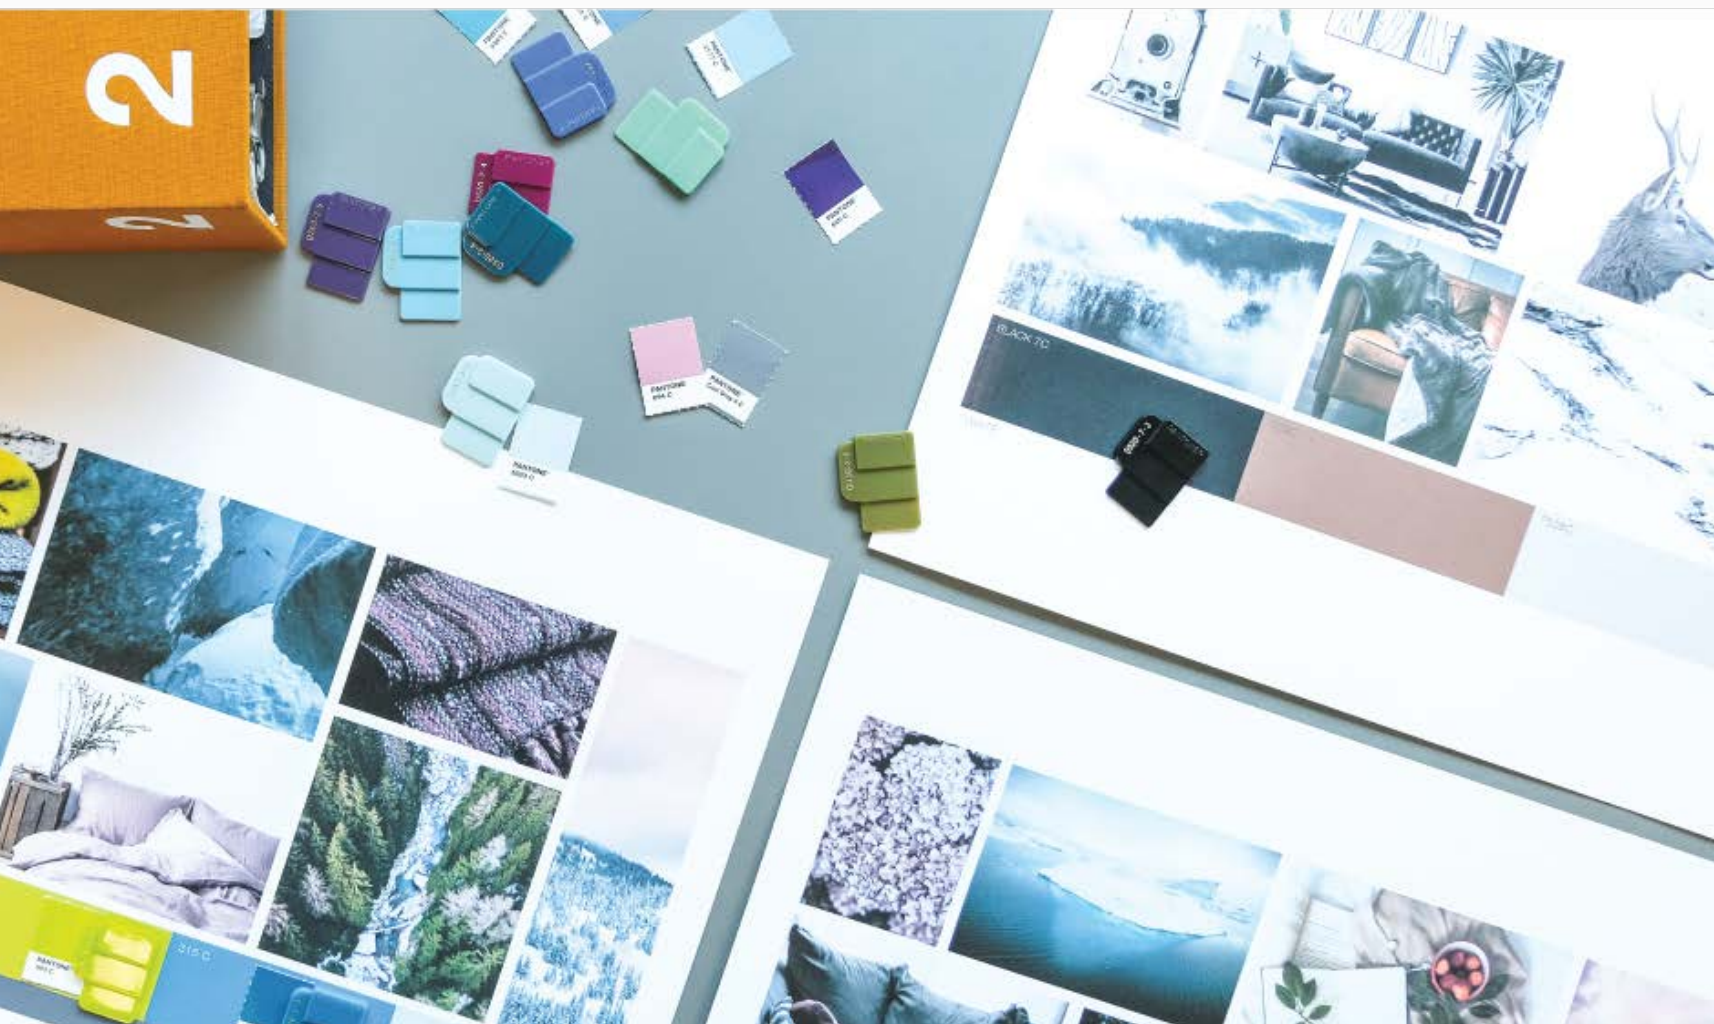

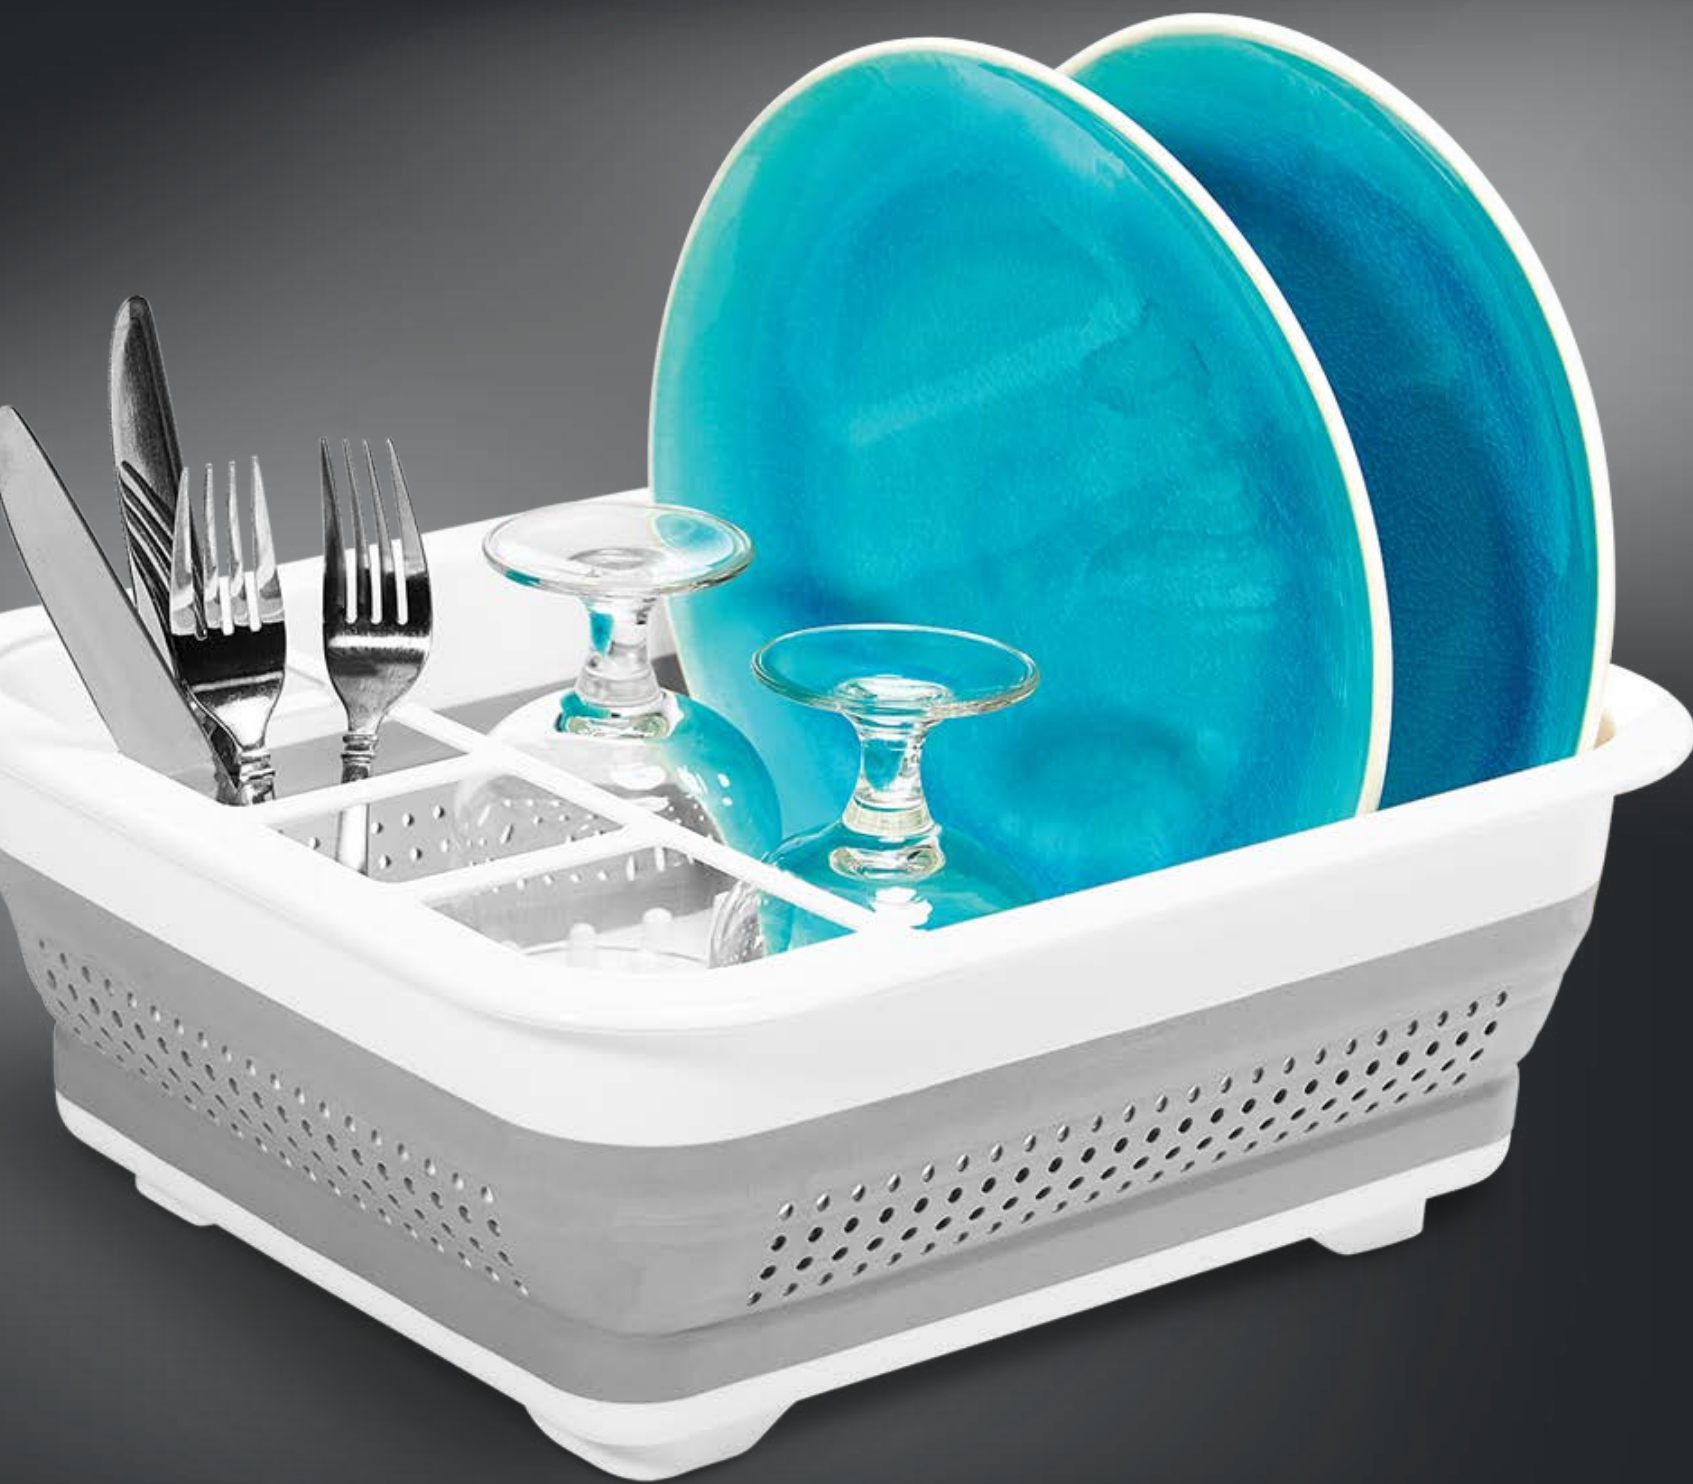

INDUSTRY EXPERTS

Through our sophisticated design process, we deliver a steady flow of innovative product ideation. We believe in design and our gifted team never stops creating. With vital collaboration, our in-house design and engineering teams work with our manufacturers to find the best pricing and maintain the highest quality standards possible. Madesmart® values the long-lasting relationships we have with our factories and sourcing partners in China. Our factory relationships are a long-term investment for us, many lasting 10+ years. We have four primary injection molding factories, with additional capabilities in silicone, bamboo, textiles, and steel. Our team is always exploring and looking for new ways to expand our development.

INDUSTRY PARTNERS

Not only is madesmart® fluent in design and manufacturing, we are also skilled merchandisers who are well-versed in retail and understand what catches consumers' eyes first. We love collaborating with our retailers on their planogram displays to ensure that our partnership is as successful as it can be. Additionally, we provide merchandising solutions including in-store signage, point-of-purchase displays, insights on product assortments, along with strategic marketing initiatives to help drive sales. Collaboration is at the core of what we do.

At 25 years old, when I invented the Original Junk Drawer Organizer®, I was confident that my idea would be a success. What I never anticipated was that such a simple idea could lead to a 30-year journey that would allow me the opportunity to impact the future of home organization and grow to become an industry-leading business.

As unexpected as it was, I could not be more grateful, as it's been easy to take pride in owning this company all these years. Still there are moments I think to myself, wow, it started with a junk drawer organizer, then all this happened.

Brand & product innovation continues

While designs and consumer needs may change over the years, our values of quality, function, style, and affordability remain deeply rooted in the foundation of everything we create.

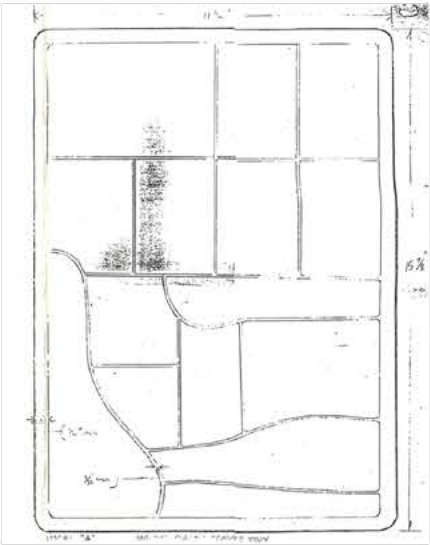

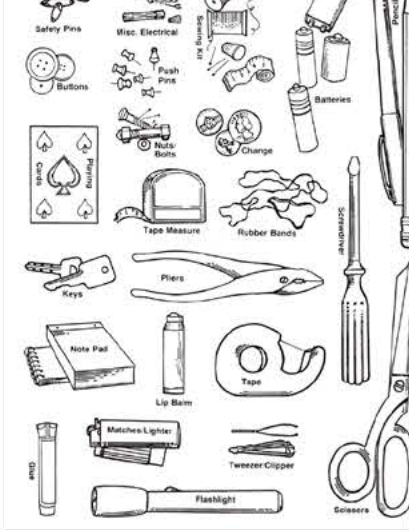

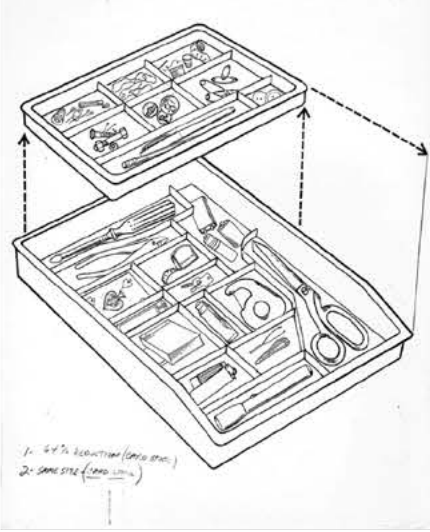

Today, the Original Junk Drawer Organizer® has become more than just a product. It has become a catalyst for growth and development, not only for our designs, but for myself and my team. Of this I am deeply proud. With so many paths in organization to explore, we've still got a long way to go. While we could never claim to predict what the future holds, we are always inspired to seek out new opportunities to make life more peaceful through organization, and we know that our passion to create thoughtful, beautifully designed products will continue one drawer at a time.
